GREEN OPEN ACCESS POLICY

What is it about?

Green Open Access is repository-based Open Access. It is also known as 'self-archiving.' It means that authors are allowed to deposit their work in the repository of their institution.

Our conditions:

AUC Press allows for Green Open Access, but applies the following conditions:

1. Monographs are excluded from this policy.
2. Textbooks are excluded from this policy.
3. Chapter authors are allowed to deposit in closed access the PDF of their contribution to an edited volume as published (i.e. the version of record, including copy editing and lay out) in the institutional repository of their university or research institute.
4. AUC Press asks for an embargo period of 12 months which means that the content of the contribution should be made accessible no sooner than 12 months after the publication date, defined as: from the moment the book is available in all markets worldwide (NA, UK, EU, Egypt, ROW).

Instructions for chapter authors:

All deposits need to be accompanied by:

- ✓ a correct and complete bibliographic reference to the publication
- ✓ a proper copyright notice: © The American University in Cairo Press
- ✓ if possible: a hyperlink to the AUC Press website where the publication is to be found

Inclusion in institutional repositories other than of the institution/university to which the author is affiliated at the time of publication is subject to written permission from the AUC Press.

All reprints are subject to written permission from the AUC Press.
